Introduction

This handbook describes Lee University's modules offered at the European Theological Seminary. This program is accredited and certified by SACSCOC, and differences to the German system are pointed out throughout this handbook.

There are two programs of study, the MA in Pentecostal-Charismatic Theology and the MA in Marriage and Family Studies. Both postgraduate programs require a bachelor's degree (180 ECTS) and at least a year of practical experience working in the subject area, e.g. church ministry (30 ECTS) (see Work Experience). Both degrees are offered by part-time study only, requiring attendance on campus at ETS for the intensive study modules. Both MA programs consist of 90 ECTS (amounting to 300 ECTS total), which leads to the same level of qualification and eligibility as the consecutive master's degree.
